

SPLATTERED PRINTOUT

ISAAC GROSOF

You've found a printout of the final moments of the flight. It's not in great shape, however - it's covered in pairs of blue and red splatters. Also, the details don't quite match your memories - A death spiral? Slaloming* through the trees? Did that really happen? What's happened to your memory?

* Rules of slalom skiing:

Poles are arranged in pairs, either both red or both blue. The goal is to navigate a path that goes between every pair of poles exactly once. The pairs of poles along the path must alternate red, blue, red, blue.

