

Found Missing

One of the gift shops sells board games. As you enter, the cashier makes a silent scream. Noticing, you walk over. He whispers loudly: "Hey, could you help out a little? I just did this month's stock check. There's a discrepancy, and my boss will kill me if he finds out!"

"What's the difference?" you ask quietly.

"Just one game. I need to figure out what it was and when it was sold." He points to another guy, who is chatting with a customer. "Boss's right there, so just act natural. Here, maybe this calendar will help."
