

Waterslides

You walk up to the big waterslides in the park, but unfortunately, there aren't any stairs, so instead you climb up the ladder and prepare to slide down the chute. But you notice a pile of notes on the ground, and wonder if there's a pattern. It seems that some of the notes are missing, but you know that the missing ones aren't important.

I found a stray dog on the streets today, which looked like it was in serious stomach pain, and I took it home and took care of it, and now I have a puppy! (4)

I baked a cake for my uncle who I absolutely like! (5)

We ran a pet show today. My favorite was a cute grey doggy! Someone brought a venomous snake from the Nile region; scary but still fun and cool. (3)

We were playing baseball in the front lawn and I accidentally broke a window. I ended up having to do something to my piggy bank to pay for it. (5)

I was bored, so I started to pull on a cat's tail, but I ended up drawing the cat's anger and it scratched me in the face. (3 2)

I had way too many chocolates and ended up with a stomachache. They were shaped like this weird aquatic sea cow. (7)

I was supposed to study Francis Bacon's famous Essays, and write a similar essay about advertisements. But I didn't and wore the dunce cap all day. (2 3)

It was dangerous to ice skate today since it was raining, but I did anyway and I took a heavy fall. At least I got to see a spectrum of colors in the sky while I was on the ground. (7)

I tried to carry too many dishes at once to the kitchen, and I dropped them. I broke all of them except the pots and pans made of a stainless metal. (9)

I stumbled upon a tank of exactly four fish today at the carnival, which I could afford thanks to all of the money I saved up mowing lawns! (5)

I've fulfilled my dream of opening a Youtube channel about flower arrangements! I had planted some flowers last year. Just yesterday I made a very nice bouquet and posted the video, which garnered a lot of these. (5)